

Backward, Turn Backward, Ob. Heat In Your Flight

So sings the "little furnace" in the Estate Hot Storm, as it catches the upward rushing heat, blocks its escape, and hurls it back against the radiating surfaces of the stove.

This is Conservation—with a capital "C"! For the heat that is wasted in the ordinary stove—fully utilized in the Estate Hot Storm—has been proven by careful tests to be from 50 to 75% of all the heat generated from the coal.

THE Estate Hot Storm

is something more than a heating stove—it is a stove and a furnace in one. Even without the furnace feature, it would be far superior to any ordinary stove; with it, it is simply incomparable.

WILL CHRIST EVER COME TO EARTH AGAIN

Toppling tombstones, falling mountains, opening graves, wailing maniacs, fiery heavens and a burning earth, have been so promiscuously associated with the Lord's Second Coming, that many Christian people are coming to dread the event instead of praying for it is instructed in the Bible.

What is the manner of the Lord's Second Coming? Will He ever come again in the flesh? Will this earth ever be totally destroyed? Why should the Lord ever come again? What could be the benefit of His coming? Is it a time to be dreaded?

These and many other important questions will be definitely answered from the scriptures by Dr. C. E. Heard of Vancouver, Sunday evening at 7:45 o'clock in the Tabernacle.

CAPTAIN BARR'S REPORT

Liverpool, Oct. 11.—Captain Barr's official report of the disaster, sent to the offices of the Cunard Line here, was timed on board the Carmania at 6:30 this morning. It says:

"The Voltorno was abandoned on account of the fire on Friday, October 10, in latitude 48° 25' north; longitude 34° 32' west. All the survivors were taken off."

"The following is the list of those saved and on board the ten assisting steamers:

"Carmania 1, La Touraine 40, Minneapolis 30, Rappahannock 19, Cesar 102, Narragansett 29, Devonian 59, Kronland 90, Grosser Kurfurst 105, Sedlitz 38. Total 521."

The figures given above make a total of only 511, but it is not known here whether one of the items or the total is incorrect. There has evidently been an error in wireless transmission.

Captain Barr's report continues: "An incomplete list of those saved is on board the Carmania. I will forward it from Queenstown."

"Advices have been received from the purser of the Voltorno that the original number on board that vessel when she sailed were 24 cabin passengers, 340 steerage passengers and 32 crew, making a total of 396."

In this case, also, the figures and the total do not tally.

Captain Barr continues:

"The crew of the Voltorno was saved by the Kronland; the captain, the chief, second, third and fifth engineers and two telegraphers by the Narragansett; the bakers and steerage passenger by the Cesar; the purser and the surgeon by the Grosser Kurfurst. Nineteen of the names have not been received by me."

Of the steerage passengers bound for Halifax, 210 were adults, 41 children, and 10 infants. Only one cabin passenger was booked for Halifax. Of the steerage passengers bound for New York, 212 were adults, 33 children and three infants. The total number of young children and babies aboard was 87.

New York, Oct. 11.—Indications were that there were no native born Americans on the steamship Voltorno. A nearly complete passenger list received here from Rotterdam showed that practically on board were immigrants, mostly bound for Canada. The Voltorno sailed under an inspection certificate given it by the British board of trade and was required only to come up to the British standards in fire protection and life saving apparatus. In some particulars it fell short of the American standards, but it was not amenable to these laws. The United States steamboat inspection bureau made an annual inspection of the steamer, however, to see that the terms of the British certificate were met.

Inspection Report

The last inspection here was made in December, 1912, when the inspectors found the following life saving equipment:

"Fourteen wooden life boats, total capacity 600; two collapsible life boats, total, 105; one folding boat, berthon type, 54; one ordinary life boat, 30; six life rafts, total capacity 114. Total 908."

The total carrying capacity of the steamer was listed at 1504 persons, including the crew. The regulations required that 1500 life preservers and life belts be carried but at the time of the inspection last December, the United States official found that only 1282 were carried and the steamship officials were forced to supply the deficiency in this respect before the Voltorno was allowed to sail.

MANY PASSENGERS RESCUED

Bremen, Oct. 11.—The captain of the Grosser Kurfurst, in a wireless report of the Voltorno disaster, says the total of those rescued was 523. Of these 86 passengers, two ships' officers, one engineer and 15 sailors were taken on board his ship. The report adds that two full boat loads from the Voltorno were still being sought for all the time the dispatch was sent, but that it was improbable they would be found.

BANDIT HOLDS UP A CAR, OBTAINING $25 AND WATCH

Last night at about 11 o'clock a lone highwayman boarded the Twenty-first street car at Jackson avenue and took from Conductor Rollie Calk $14 in cash and a gold watch, valued at $35. The money had been collected by the conductor during the evening's run.

The holdup was rather an unceremonious affair, the conductor says, as the fellow boarded the car as all other passengers do, giving no intimation that his purpose was other than to ride down town. The highway had no sooner entered the rear of the car than he slipped a handkerchief over his face and, pointing a revolver, commanded the conductor to throw up his hands. The conductor obeyed the command and the bandit proceeded to rifle his pockets. This was done while the car man from Jackson to Monroe avenues where Motorman Joseph Young stopped to let a passenger on. As the new passenger boarded the car, the robber stepped off and signalled the conductor to "go on."

The motorman knew nothing of the holdup until after the car had left Monroe, as there had been no intimation that there was anything wrong and there had been no signals from the conductor. In fact the conductor was so busily engaged holding up his hands that he had neither the time nor the inclination to give a stop signal. The man with the gun made his getaway north along Monroe to the river, which is only a short distance from Twenty-first street at that point.

The officers are of the opinion that the fellow made his way to Glenwood park and from there into the center of the city by the canyon road. The carmen made their run to the O. R. T. station at Washington and Twenty-fourth street and reported the holdup to the police and officers were immediately detailed. Mr. Call gave a good description of the man, who wore overalls and a gray coat. There were no passengers on the car at the time of the holdup, but Deputy Sheriff George Leatham rode on the car on its way up as far as Madison avenue, which is only a block away from the point where the holdup left the car on its return trip, not more than five minutes having elapsed after the officer got off. Had the officer ridden on up to the end of the line and returned on that car, he would have had the thrilling experience of meeting a real robber armed to the teeth.

CHINAMEN HELD ON CHARGE BY KUHN

As a result of a misunderstanding that occurred in the Vienna cafe last evening, Charles Young and "Jim Chinaman," two waiters, are charged with disturbing the peace. Joe Kuhn is the complaining witness, who was held by the police as a witness and posted $15 for bail, which was the bail demanded of the two defendants also.

The arrest was made by Patrolmen Keillher and Russell after an alleged fight had occurred between Kuhn and the Chinamen over a meal that had been ordered by Kuhn.

According to Kuhn's story, he ordered a tenderloin steak in the restaurant last evening and when the meal was served a half tenderloin reposed on the platter. When Kuhn objected, stating he had ordered a whole steak, the waiter called another Chinaman who told Kuhn that he could order another half tenderloin which would equal a whole one. Kuhn rebelled, however, on the grounds that two halves would cost more than the whole steak he had ordered.

Kuhn says the waiter told him he did not need to eat the steak and told him to leave. The diner said he would go and was making for the door when he was attacked by the entire shift of waiters. He was hit on the head with a steel and also with a stick of wood, he says. When he tried to get out, he claims the door was locked and the Chinese refused to let him telephone.

A crowd gathered, however, and the patrolmen forced their way in. Kuhn claims that the patrolmen refused to arrest the waiters against whom he complained and only took two when there were a half dozen available. He also claims that the officers would not secure witnesses and that the only ones who he could get were those who volunteered their names.

The trial will be held in police court Monday.

A HARD WINTER PREDICTED

Weather prognosticators predict an early and severe winter. It is to be hoped that the forecast will fail. The fact remains, however, that any winter is long and severe to the family whose bread winner is out of employment. Happy the household when the husband and father can find work in the season when his wages are most needed. Soon building of all kinds will more or less cease until spring. Street work and other public improvements will be at a standstill for several months. Factories constitute the principal line of work in cities whose wheels are constantly whirling, winter as well as summer. If the head of the house can not secure work in a factory, a son or daughter working therein will be able to pay the rent, supply the larder and fill the coal bin. Don't you see, Mr. Merchant, and you, Consumer, that this Home Industry work is YOUR work and its success. YOUR Success? The moral is: BUY AND SELL AND USE UTAH PRODUCTS.

NEWEST Cloaks and Suits at.....$15

How much do you want to pay for the Fall cloak or suit? Fifteen dollars is the lowest price suit we are showing this season — but even at that price we can show you suits which are full of style and quality; which have all of the positive style features of this season's garments. The fact that we mark these garments at the "Low Price Early" is responsible for the splendid business which this department has enjoyed this season.

Coats

Coat prices begin at $10.95 and from that price to most any amount one might wish to pay. The point, however, is that NO MATTER what price you expect to pay, the coat we sell you will be distinctive—will have the earmarks of a 1913 model.

Jaunty, three-quarter models—cutaway or square styles—some strictly tailored—others with semi-draped effects and in every material which has been counted good this fall. All prices—beginning at $10.95.

Suits

The sketch shows some of the very last suits to arrive and the jackets and skirts which are having the greatest sale. There is a difference of style in the suits of this year which makes them distinctively different to those of other seasons.

The semi-draped skirts of the sketch are being eagerly bought by well-dressed women, and the cutaway jacket is decidedly popular. There are some exclusive models here at $90.00, and handsome suits at any price upward from $15.00.

TRANSVAAL GOLD AND THE STRIKE

The effect of the miners' strike on the Witwatersrand upon the gold production was hardly as great as might have been expected. Nevertheless, there has been a perceptible falling off in the last three months. Up to the end of May there was a good increase over last year, and the maximum production of 794,306 ounces was attained in the month of May, and this was an increase of about 15,000 ounces over the corresponding month in 1912. In June there was a decrease from May of 47,259 ounces, the total production being about 6000 ounces less than in June of last year. The lowest point was reached in July, when the total output was only 655,389 ounces, the smallest recorded for many months, and 111,000 ounces less than last year. In August production rallied to a total of 728,096, which is still 36,641 ounces less than a year ago, but shows a sufficient gain over preceding months to point to further improvement.

The changes were entirely in the Witwatersrand, the outside districts of the Transvaal, showing a pretty steady continuous production running not far from 30,000 ounces a month. The total gold production for the eight months ended with August was 5,673,982 in the corresponding months of 1912. The decrease of 50,076 ounces will probably be made up in the closing months of the year, but the gain in 1913 over 1912 will undoubtedly be very much smaller than the advances shown in the last three years.

The strike seems to have had some unfavorable effects on native labor, for during the month of August there was a decrease of 12,392 in the number of native laborers employed—Engineering and Mining Journal.

DOUBLE TRESPASSING

Henry James, the American novelist, lives at Rye, one of the Cinque Ports; but recently he left Rye and took a house in the country near the estate of a millionaire jam manufacturer, retired. This man, having married an Earl's daughter, was ashamed of the trade whereby he had piled up his fortune.

The jam manufacturer one day wrote Mr. James an impudent letter, vowing that it was outrageous on the way the James servants trespassed on his ground. Mr. James wrote back: "Dear Sir—I am very sorry to hear that my servants have been poaching on your preserves."

"P. S.—You'll excuse me mentioning your preserves, won't you?"—New York Globe.

THE DEFENSE OF CONSTANTINOPLE

Constantinople was captured at the beginning of the new development in the methods of machinery of warfare, and as these methods and machinery improved, its strength as a fortress declined. In itself, it has ceased to present any difficulties to a well-equipped foe. Its useless walls have been allowed to fall into ruins. Its defense on the land side now depends on distant earthworks—the lines of Chatalja, which follow the course of the old wall of Anastasius and which a few months ago opposed an effective obstacle to the advance of the Bulgarians. Under modern conditions Constantinople, without an adequate navy, is at the mercy of any enemy that possesses a third-rate sea power. The Ottoman sea power, which was supreme in the Mediterranean in the sixteenth century, has steadily declined since the seventeenth, and it is notorious that, during the past century, only the mutual jealousies of the European powers have preserved the city in the after province has been wrested from their dominion. Last winter it was faneled for a moment that 1912 would terminate for Constantinople the period which 1453 had opened. This was not to be. But it is interesting to reflect that today, though her master possesses Asia Minor, Syria, Uesopotamia and Arabia, the city would fall a far easier prey to any seafaring conqueror than when the last Constantine defended her with no resources but her walls, a garrison of 8000 men and a few ships.—Professor J. B. Berry in Yale Review.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to flush Kidneys if Back hurts or Bladder Bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.—Advertisement.
